DESCRIPTION OF THE EMBODIMENTS

Please amend the paragraph at page 15, lines 7-13, as follows:

Although in the intended use on a flat heating element 1 the spring contacts [[5]] 15 meet the requirements for a reliable and durable electrical connection, should it be necessary they could be soldered, in particular by suitably pretinning them, it being possible for the necessary heat to be provided without any contact, for example through the coated pane 2.
